I am a highly motivated Full-stack developer who enjoys growing my knowledge on topics such as AI and Software Engineering. I am currently upskilling in AWS Cloud computing, I am eager to contribute my skills and dedication to the field of technology.

I am committed to achieving my goals and expanding my knowledge base. I enjoy spending time outdoors and engaging in physical activities, which allows me to maintain a healthy work-life balance and stay focused on my goals.

I also gained valuable experience as, a Coding Mentor and by refactoring Django tasks for the learning department. The successful completion of these refactoring initiatives resulted in streamlined processes, and enhanced code maintainability, contributing to an improved learning experience for students.

Past Experiences

April 2023–Current

Coding Mentor – HyperionDev | E – Learning

- Successfully delivered prompt and high-quality mentoring support via one-on-one support calls, resulting in measurable improvements in students' coding skills and comprehension.
- Implemented a rigorous code review process, resulting in consistently elevated code quality and a quantifiable increase in student success rates.
- Conducted targeted one-on-one sessions, leading to a significant reduction in the time students spent grappling with challenging problems and a measurable increase in overall student motivation.
- Demonstrated commitment to staying at the forefront of technology by successfully implementing the latest industry stacks into the curriculum, keeping students abreast of cutting-edge developments.
- Played a key role in formulating and implementing innovative strategies to enhance pedagogical processes, resulting in a notable improvement in student completion rates and retention.
- Assisted Mentors, contributing to an enhanced sense of community and peer support, ultimately improving the overall student experience.
